- 08:33:07 From Paul Ross to Everyone: @Rory, this is another group that might be a point of contact. https://aztea.org/ As a recovering K12 IT Chief, time for teachers and the technology leadership in schools is a major factor inhibiting access, there generally is a desire to connect but time and lack of staff on the ground to perform the work in K-12 is a significant barrier. K-12 IT staffs are the most poorly staffed/perceived influence on business operations of IT units across all industries.
